

Two beds on stage left, two couches with a TV directly above giving the impression that people would have to sit and arch their head up to view it. No one watches the TV directly.

Danny lies on his side on the stage right bed facing stage right. His torso is covered but his legs appear as if their belonging to a person lying on his back, giving him a twisted appearance.

Jon sits on the stage left on the stage right couch (towards the middle of the stage). His legs are drawn together and his arms slumped on his lap palms up.

The room is completely white except the bed and couches, which are slightly grey. Everyone wears white except Dr. Jonsey, Jon and Dannny who wear flesh colored clothing. The nurses all wear bright red hats which slowly drip blood on their dresses/suits.